

SIT20416 Certificate II in Kitchen Operations Course Information Brochure

Description of Course

This qualification reflects the role of individuals working in kitchens who use a defined and varied range of food preparation and cookery skills to prepare food and menu items. They are involved in learning various cooking methods required in a commercial kitchen. The students work under direct supervision, learning the practical and theory skills that prepare them for the hospitality industry.

Activities / Tasks

The course provides both theoretical and practical training that is linked directly to the work that hospitality related employees undertake. The course includes:

- Learning practical skills in all cookery methods;
- Learning how to purchase and produce food safely for public consumption;
- Studying safe work practices, cleaning and maintaining a commercial kitchen; and
- Sourcing and using information on the hospitality industry.

Assessment

Assessment is conducted using a combination of project based practical tasks, theory test and design folios/briefs. The assessment of your overall competence at this certificate level will be undertaken by a qualified assessor and your competence judge using all of these tasks. Students will be given a fair and adequate assessment process that include the option of an assessment re-sit.
